Background information

The European Format for Exchange of Social Security Education (EFESE) encourages the development and exchange of blended courses among diverse universities in Europe. On the basis of the commonly designed courses the project aims to design a truly European comprehensive curriculum on social security that will be accessible with help of virtual mobility of both teachers and students.

Focus of the seminar is set on required procedural steps at institutional and national level, in order to develop a fully recognized and accredited Master in European social security. Different topics, directly or indirectly connected with the procedure of accreditation will be discussed, such as the types and forms of joint study programmes; types and forms of diplomas; accreditation procedure; rules on the study order; assurance and evaluation of the quality, etc.

The concept of the events at the seminar is based on two-way communication throughout. Our goal is to share our knowledge and experience on the one hand, and to hear your thoughts, ideas and good practices on the other.
